U.S., Dag Ask Hungarian Probe

5-Nation Group To Undertake Inquiry Urged

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Jan. 7 (AP)—The United States announced today it is proposing the creation of a special five-nation committee of the U.N. General Assembly to investigate the Hungarian situation.

This announcement was made by a delegation spokesman shortly after Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold published a report to the Assembly advocating the formation of a temporary committee to undertake such an investigation.

The Russian reaction to this type of committee was quick and definite. A Soviet source said "Nyet" (no), added it would not help solve the Hungarian problem and made it clear the committee never would be permitted to get into Hungary.

200 Sponsors Is Aim

The U.S. spokesman said the delegation is discussing with other delegations details of a proposed resolution establishing the committee. He said the Americans hope to have about 200 sponsors for the resolution when it comes before the Assembly. The Assembly is expected to be called to consider the Hungarian situation later this week.

Early in the Hungarian crisis, Hammarskjold was asked to do what he could to end it, and to offer relief for the suffering Hungarians. He appointed three men to the investigatory group but in his report to the Assembly he acknowledged the group had not been able to carry out its assignment.

Consultation Indicated

The U.S. spokesman declined to say whether Hammarskjold had conferred with U.S. Chief Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., about his report. However, the pace of events indicated there had been consultation. Hammarskjold suggested the committee and the U.S. delegation carried the ball farther by announcing details.

The United States wants the committee to be made up of governmental representatives from anyone anywhere it could, especially refugees such as Miss Anna Kethly, only member of the Nagy government to escape from Hungary, and report directly to the General Assembly.

Building Vanishes In Dynamite Explosion

A terrific explosion in a dynamite factory at Emporium, Pa., yesterday created this hole in the ground. Two buildings vanished and 18 others were damaged. Three men were killed and eight injured. The blast shattered windows a mile away and interrupted telephone and electric service. A storekeeper said it "sounded like tons of bombs." (AP Photofax)

S. C. Democrat To Advise Ike On Middle East

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7 (AP)—President Eisenhower today named a South Carolina Democrat, former Rep. James P. Richards, to be a special assistant and adviser on Middle East problems.

He is also to be chief of the American mission which Eisenhower proposes to send to the Middle East in furtherance of plans to block Communist aggression there.

Richards was chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee until his retirement from Congress last week. As chairman, he criticized the administration from time to time on foreign policy matters. He did not run for reelection to Congress last year.

In his new job Richards will have the rank of personal ambassador and a salary of $20,000 a year.

Richards was given an assignment to "advise and assist the President and the secretary of State on problems of the Middle East area."

Heads Special Group

He will head a special group from the State and Defense Departments and the International Cooperation Administration in carrying out "certain aspects of government policies in relation to the Middle East, particularly as they may develop pursuant to the President's request to the Congress for a joint declaration of policy."

In this request, Eisenhower asked Congress Saturday to join him in declaring that the United States will not tolerate any Communist aggression in the Middle East, and will use military force if necessary to block it.

Feast Of Christmas

NEW YORK, Jan. 7 (AP)—The Feast of Christmas was celebrated today by Orthodox Christians of several denominations, including the Russian Orthodox.

These Christians follow the old Julian calendar which is now 13 days behind the Gregorian calendar, which is generally followed.

Knowland Will Quit U.S. Senate In 1958

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7 (AP)—Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland announced dramatically today he is quitting the Senate in 1958.

He declined to close the door against the possibility he may seek the Republican nomination for governor of California next year as a preliminary move toward a bid for the GOP presidential nomination in 1960.

Knowland told a news conference of his decision after going to the White House and telling President Eisenhower of his plans. Previously Knowland had let Senate Republican colleagues in on his secret at a party conference.

Publicly, all Knowland would say was that he wanted to spend more time with his family and give more attention to his job as assistant publisher of the Oakland, Calif., Tribune, of which his father is publisher.

"This is something I have been giving thought to for some time," Knowland said. He added that he made his announcement now so there would be ample time to consider his successor.

He said he has three children, five grandchildren and an elderly father. He said he and Mrs. Knowland want to spend more time with them.

Observing that "fundamentally, I'm a newspaper man," Knowland said he had always hoped to return actively to the newspaper business.

At 48, Knowland has served in the Senate since September, 1945, after his appointment by then Gov. Earl Warren to succeed the late GOP Sen. Hiram Johnson. At the time of his appointment, Knowland was serving overseas as a major in the Army.

Knowland said he has "no plans" to give up his post as Senate Republican leader during the remaining two years of his term. Just re-elected to the leadership, he will serve throughout the present Congress unless his Republican colleagues should decide on a change.

Army Colonel Quizzed In Leak Of Secret Data

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7 (AP)—The Army disclosed today a document which "apparently contained secret information" on the Army's roles and missions has been discovered "in the hands of unauthorized persons."

As a result, the Army said, it is investigating a possible violation of security regulations involving a senior officer at the ballistic missile agency, Redstone Arsenal, Huntsville, Ala.

Other Army personnel also are involved in the investigation, the Army said in a written reply to an inquiry placed at the Pentagon.

Officer Identified

The Army identified the officer as Col. John C. Nickerson Jr., chief of the field coordinating office at the agency where the Army is developing both short and medium range guided missiles.

It said the alleged violation came to light when a document concerning the Defense Department's Nov. 26 decision on the Army's roles and missions was discovered "in the hands of unauthorized persons."

The Army did not further identify the secret document involved but said it discussed Secretary of Defense Wilson's recent decision which limited Army use of missiles to those specifically assigned to antiaircraft defense and to weapons with a range of no more than 200 miles. The Wilson decision also spelled out specific limitations on the Army's development and use of aircraft.

Githers Questioned

In the brief reply to the inquiry today, the Army said that Col. Nickerson, "among others," is being questioned concerning the document.

The investigation has been proceeding for several days and is being carried out by officers of the 3rd Army whose headquarters are at Ft. McPherson, Atlanta, Ga.

"The Soviet Union has shown the way to China in its struggle for freedom. And now the Soviet Union is rendering assistance to China. It stands as a great example to our country."

Two Solons Move To Curb Filibusters

Douglas And Morse
Introduce Proposal
For Limiting Debate

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7 (AP)—New moves to curb filibusters and pave the way for civil rights legislation were started in the Senate today.

Sens. Douglas (D-Ill.) and Morse (D-Ore.) introduced a resolution providing that debate on any legislation could be cut off by a constitutional majority of 49 votes after the legislation has been under discussion for 15 calendar days.

Douglas described the resolution as "a necessary first step before we can hope for the passage of meaningful civil rights legislation."

Present Senate Rules

Under Senate rules now, any senator can usually block a vote on a bill by engaging in a filibuster, that is, literally talking it to death. The rules require a two-thirds vote of the full membership, 64 senators, to impose cloture or debate limitation. It has proved almost impossible to get 64 senators to agree to cloture.

The Douglas-Morse resolution would allow two-thirds of the senators present and voting to limit the debate any time during the first 15 days a bill is before the Senate. A majority of 49 senators would be able to impose cloture after that time. Sundays and holidays are not included in the 15-day period.

Second Resolution

Morse introduced a second resolution which would allow the Senate to impose cloture by a majority vote at any time. Once imposed, this cloture rule would allow 96 hours debate, an hour for each senator.

Still a third resolution is being prepared by Sen. Knowland of California, the Republican leader. This would allow the imposition of cloture at any time on the vote of two-thirds of the senators present.

The Knowland proposal would also limit debate on any motion to change the Senate's rules. No such limitation is possible under existing rules.

1,716 Refugees Arrive In N.Y.

NEW YORK, Jan. 7 (AP)—The transport Haan docked today with 1,716 Hungarian refugees, three days late because of bad weather over the North Atlantic.

The ship's passengers included 279 women and children, and 29 were infants under one year old. Gen. J. Lawton Collins, vice chairman of the President's Committee to Aid Hungarian Refugees, welcomed the newcomers on behalf of President Eisenhower.

During one of the few relatively calm periods at sea, two doctors performed an appendicitis operation on a 14-year-old Hungarian boy. They reported he was recovering nicely.

One of the doctors was Lt. J. E. Szakas, attached to the Bethesda Naval Hospital. He came to this country in January 1952 as a refugee from Hungary and lives in Rockville, Md., with his wife and two children. The other physician was Lt. John M. Rodgers of East Moriches, N. Y.

The refugees included Istvan Zeban, 15, an orphan who fled a Catholic orphanage in Budapest when he heard the Russians were going to imprison the staff. He said he "thumbed" his way to the Austrian border.

TO QUIT SENATE—Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland (above), of California announced yesterday he will not be a candidate for re-election to the Senate in 1958. He said his principal reason for not seeking another term is he wants to spend more time with his family.

Kremlin Gives East Germany Troop Control

MOSCOW, Jan. 7 (AP)—The East German government tonight won an agreement on the control of Russian garrison forces similar to that given Poland over Soviet troops in that country, East German newsmen reported.

The Soviet government also agreed to give East Germany substantial economic and trade assistance. Both sides pledged to work for Soviet disarmament proposals and for a four-power conference on limiting troops in both East and West Germany.

A formal communique, outlining agreements which technical committees will work out in detail later, was signed tonight in a Kremlin ceremony at the close of three days of negotiations between Soviet experts and an East German delegation headed by Premier Otto Grotewohl.

Synopsis Available To West

The text was not released immediately to the Western press, but copies were given to East German newsmen, who made a synopsis available to the Western correspondents.

The summary included these points:

A formal agreement on the "temporary" location of the estimated 400,000 Soviet troops in East Germany and legal jurisdiction over them will be negotiated. This will be similar to the agreement reached between the Soviet Union and Poland last month in which Poland won the right to a veto over the numbers, location, movement and use of Russian troops based in Poland.

Property Use Covered

East Germans said the new pact will cover also the use of German property by Soviet troops. This agreement will be based on the accord of Sept. 20, 1955 in which Moscow restored the "sovereignty" of East Germany and replaced its high commissioner with an ambassador.

East Germany will assume "full sovereignty" over its air space, but both countries agreed the present four-power relationship between Russia, Britain, France and the United States was not an infringement of that sovereignty.

CD Tax Incentive Bill

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7 (AP)—Sen. Beall (R-Md.) today introduced a bill offering tax benefits to encourage volunteer service in the civil defense program.

Workers, such as plane spotters, would be allowed a $4 deduction on their federal income tax return for each hour of service volunteered—up to a total of $600 for an individual taxpayer and an additional $600 for each dependent.

Dulles Views Any Delay As 'Disastrous'

House Committee
To Speed Action On Mideast Formula

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said today the consequences would be "quite disastrous" if Congress should not go along with President Eisenhower's proposals for averting aggression in the Middle East.

Dulles made the statement during 4½ hours of testimony before the House Foreign Affairs Committee, as it opened hearings on Eisenhower's request for advance authority to use U. S. military forces if necessary to block Communist aggression.

"The consequences in the area of a refusal, of a prolonged delay or a sharp division," Dulles said, "would be quite disastrous."

Dulles said Congress can do its utmost "for peace and freedom" only by quickly approving Eisen-

Saudi Arabian King To Visit Ike

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7 (AP)—The White House announced today the King of Saudi Arabia will visit President Eisenhower later this month for discussion of Middle Eastern problems.

The influential monarch, will be the guest of this government from Jan. 30 through Feb. 1.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, said Eisenhower and the King are expected to discuss problems of the Middle Eastern area "of mutual interest to the two countries."

hower's program for the Middle East.

As if in response, Chairman Gordon (D-Ill.) of the committee announced a speedup. He predicted floor action in the House by two weeks from today.

Radford, Acheson To Testify

In the Senate arrangements were made for hearings late this week or early next week.

Dulles testified before a jam-packed hearing. Tomorrow the doors will be closed when he returns for further testimony along with Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Gordon said former Secretary of State Dean Acheson would testify Thursday.

Dulles read a prepared statement which, in effect, told the committee that Congress had no choice in the interests of national unity but to vote overwhelming endorsement of Eisenhower's military-economic formula for blocking Communist expansion in the Middle East.

Dulles fenced with the committee during questioning, which took up most of the time. Most of the questions, however, were friendly.

He was pressed about how the formula would work, as to what it would do as well as what it would not.

Egypt Invasion Deplored

Replying, he said it was directed against international communism, and if some Middle East country should come up with a national brand of communism, then the United States would not invade it.

In this connection, he deplored what he called "the British-French invasion of Egypt" last October.

Dulles' appearance launched congressional consideration of a resolution he said would:

1. "Make unmistakably clear" to Russia and the world the United States is determined to help Middle East nations stay free.
2. Provide broad economic aid to those countries, at a rate of 200 million dollars a year.
3. Authorize military assistance programs to those interested.
4. Let the President decide whether to use U.S. troops against open military aggression by any Communist-controlled nation, provided the victim requested such U.S. help.

Russia Says Armed Force Cut 1,840,000

LONDON, Jan. 7 (AP)—Moscow radio announced tonight that the Soviet Union has "reduced its armed forces by 1,840,000."

It did not give the size of the Soviet army, navy and air force before or after the reported cut.

It did not say, either, how far back in time the cuts go.

The Soviet Union on Aug. 13, 1955, said it would cut its armed forces by 640,000 in four months.

Last May 14, the Russians said they planned to cut their armed forces by 1,200,000 before May 1, 1957, and put the manpower to work in agriculture and industry.

Polish Reds Scared, Use Vote Pressure

WARSAW, Jan. 7 (P)—The United Workers Communist party appealed urgently to its lagging membership today to get organized for Poland's parliamentary election Jan. 20.

Behind the appeal apparently lay a sudden realization that, despite the single ticket process that limits freedom of the voters, the party and some of its leaders may suffer a tremendous loss of face.

The party newspaper Trybuna Ludu said editorially disorganization, dissension and apathy among party members have left the Communists in the lurch while the two other parties tolerated within the Red-run National Front are entering the campaign "boldly and with their heads held high."

These are the United Peasant party and the Democratic party. The election is organized on a single list drawn up by the National Front, which also includes organizations such as trade unions. The voter has no choice of policies—all candidates are pledged to support Communism.

boss Wladyslaw Gomulka's "Polish road to socialism." But if the election is carried out according to law the voter will be able to strike off the list the candidates he likes least. It is clear that this category embraces many Communist candidates, including some of the most prominent.

The party is prepared to lose some of the 273 seats it held in the old 425-seat Parliament. Gomulka's thesis is that participation in national affairs must be broadened. The party could drop 50 seats or so and still maintain its majority. But it is entirely possible its holdings will be reduced far more. And this would affect the Communists' claim to a "leading role" in Poland's political life.

Trybuna Ludu charged that enemies are agitating against Communist candidates with "the most violent methods." It complained some people—even some Communists—are demanding that all party candidates be crossed off the list, or that "essential candidates who are eminent politicians, statesmen and economists" be crossed off.

Flunks Driver's Test But He's 100

PITTSBURGH, Kan., Jan. 7 (P)—William B. Duff flunked his driver's license examination today.

He will be 101 March 17. Duff, who has been driving automobiles since the chain drive days, let his license expire on his 100th birthday. That meant he had to take an examination.

"They asked me too many questions," was Duff's summary.

Clarksburg Brothers Are Asphyxiated

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Jan. 7 (P)—Hot coals dropped from an open grate and ignited wooden flooring here today, asphyxiating two brothers while they slept in chairs in front of the fire.

Dead are Harry, 44, and William Talkingdon, 57. Harry was home on furlough from Veteran's Administration hospital. William was a former city employee.

Police Lt. J. V. Onestinghel said the room in which the men died was littered with empty whisky bottles. The house was without running water, electricity or gas.

$3,000 Reward Posted For Two Wanton Killers

NORTH HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 7 (P)—Gov. Abraham A. Ribicoff today authorized a state reward of $3,000 for information leading to the "arrest and conviction" of two thugs who shot and killed a Meriden couple here in a robbery Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Speyer were the fourth and fifth victims of wanton killers in Connecticut since last Dec. 15. They were shot dead as they knelt on the floor of a shoe store here. Police said two men were involved in the shooting and they fled after taking about $50 from the cash register, $12 from the wallet of proprietor Frank Adinolfi and an undetermined amount from Mr. and Mrs. Speyer.

Early today, police at Ansonia, about eight miles southwest of North Haven, reported the arrest of Harry McCuen, 29, of New Haven, on a charge of carrying a weapon in a motor vehicle without a permit. McCuen denied having any knowledge of the double shooting but he was ordered held in $25,000 bond on the weapon count. A .32 caliber weapon found on McCuen was sent to the state police laboratory for a ballistics check.

State Police later took McCuen before Adinolfi, and said Adinolfi said he was not one of the holdup men. Before fleeing the store, the thugs twice pistol-whipped Adinolfi, who, despite his injuries, managed to give the alarm to neighbors. He was taken to Grace-New Haven Community Hospital where police were able to question him.

Judge Joseph L. Carter set bond at $10,000 after counsel for Lt. Vernon J. Johnson, 30-year-old Negro officer, asked sentence be deferred pending a possible motion for a new trial.

Johnson has been living in Baltimore since his transfer from a Texas air base to an air field at nearby Edgewood. Johnson was convicted after police said they found nine capsules of heroin under the floor mat of his car.

Detective Lt. Joseph Carroll of the narcotics squad said Johnson admitted going with a Baltimore girl to Washington where she bought the dope at a Columbia Road apartment while he waited outside.

Johnson denied using the drug, saying the girl had merely touched a capsule to his nose while driving. Judge Carter was told Johnson had served as navigator on B36 bombers.

Police arrested Johnson Dec. 17 after a telephone tip. They said the narcotics was found in his parked car.

Owner Neglects Cattle; Fined $50

HAGERSTOWN, Jan. 7 (P)—The owner of 20 head of cattle was fined $50 today on charges he failed to adequately water and feed them.

Magistrate Paul Ottinger imposed the fine on Lewis W. Miller, who works in a Baltimore aircraft plant during the week and on Friday returns to his residence in the Brownsville area of Washington County.

Sheriff's officers said they got complaints on three separate occasions from neighbors. The officers said they visited the Miller premises and found the cattle locked in a barn with no food or water. They were not able to locate Miller and fed and watered the animals themselves.

They said they finally contacted Miller Jan. 4 and arrested him. Miller said he thought his brother was caring for the animals. The magistrate held the brother, Earl H. Miller, not responsible for the cattle.

Egypt, Syrian Press Fearful Of Ike's Plans

CAIRO, Egypt, Jan. 7 (P)—Egyptian newspapers expressed fear today that President Eisenhower's "vacuum-filling" policies in the Middle East would lead to World War III. The Syrian press also lashed out at the President's plans, but Lebanon's foreign minister said his country wants to cooperate with the United States.

Egyptian officials still are making a careful study of the President's speech to Congress last Saturday asking for standby authority to use American military forces to counter any armed Communist aggression in the Middle East and to deploy 400 million dollars of economic aid in the area to block further Soviet penetration.

The Egyptian press has been critical of talk in Washington that the plan was to fill a "vacuum" left by British and French loss of influence in the Middle East. Arab nationalists take the view that Middle Eastern states themselves can fill the void.

Al Shaab said today U.S. efforts to fill an alleged vacuum in the Middle East would "justify interference of one state in the affairs of any other state. Russia, for instance, may get it into her head tomorrow that there is a 'vacuum' in Greece, Sweden, Norway or Iran and that she should do something about it.... There is no doubt that the inevitable result of such a trend is war."

The Syrian press criticized the President for limiting his plans to dealing with Communist attacks. The papers said Arabs do not believe there is any threat of Communist aggression in the area, nor that any Arab country would turn Communist. All Arabs believe the danger of aggression comes from Israel, the newspapers said.

Ike Sends Nehru Note

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7 (P)—President Eisenhower today sent to India's Prime Minister Nehru a personal message dealing with the administration's new anti-Communist program for the Middle East.

Democratic leaders have suggested increasing the sales tax as an alternate to Republican Gov. McKeldin's tobacco tax proposal.

7th Victim Of Crash

LEXINGTON, Va., Jan. 7 (P)—Mrs. Nellie Mae Craft, 47, of Baltimore has become the seventh victim of the Greyhound bus accident near here.

Mrs. Craft had been in critical condition since the accident last week. She suffered fractures of both legs and her jaw.

Racial Tension Rises As Rape, Slaying Probed

SIKESTON, Mo., Jan. 7 (P)—Students demonstrated today against attending classes with Negroes as authorities sought new leads in the Saturday night slaying of a high school football player and the rape of his girl friend.

Authorities took precautionary measures against possible trouble. The state highway patrol moved in extra troops, armed with tear gas guns and other riot equipment. But no violence was reported. The girl had described the slayer-rapest as a Negro.

Two Negroes were arrested Sunday for questioning. One, Claude (Booth) Lightsey, 61, a handyman, was taken to state highway patrol headquarters at Jefferson City for a lie detector test.

Highway patrol Capt. K. K. Johnson said the test indicated Lightsey had nothing to do with the case. The other Negro was identified by authorities as a friend of Lightsey. His name was never disclosed.

The slain boy was John Malugen, 18, cocaptain of the Charleston High School football team. Charleston is 14 miles east of here.

Shaving At Wheel Careless Driving

PARAMUS, N.J., Jan. 7 (P)—Theodore Hildebrandt, 29, West-dood, had lather on his face and was shaving with a safety razor while driving on heavily traveled Rt. 17 today, state police said.

Trooper Joseph Walkomir arrested Hildebrandt on careless driving charge after he recovered from his initial surprise.

Child's Appetite For Pins Is Cured

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 7 (P)—Susana Beatriz Gorritz was released from the hospital today, her appetite for straight pins cured.

Little Susana, 11-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Virgilio Ernesto Gorritz of Corrientes, near Buenos Aires, swallowed 47 of them last summer.

Forty-five of the pins were discharged naturally and without medical help. The other two lodged in her right lung. One was removed in Argentina last October, but the parents brought the child to the Temple University Medical Center here after Christmas for removal of the second. It was taken out on New Year's eve.

Ship Collision Claims Exceed $100 Million

NEW YORK, Jan. 7 (P)—Court claims growing out of the collision of the Swedish liner Stockholm and the Italian liner Adria Doria now surpass 100 million dollars, it was disclosed.

The Adria Doria sank last July 25 in the collision off Nantucket.

To date, 950 claims amounting to 71½ million dollars have been filed against the Swedish American Line, and 1,150 claims totaling 45 million dollars against the Italian line.

The lawsuits are being consolidated in Federal

Both Sides File Court Appeals On Gas Rates

Appeals have been filed on both sides in the recent gas rate decision of the Public Service Commission.

The City of Cumberland and Allegany County Board of Commissioners filed an appeal in Circuit Court here Saturday stating that the Public Service Commission's order of November 9, 1956, is illegal, invalid and unreasonable. They say it constitutes a gross abuse of discretion on the part of the commission, in that the commission failed and refused to evaluate the evidence before it, particularly with regard to proper adjustments in the utility's operating expenses in a number of specific items.

These were listed as the charge by the Cumberland and Allegany Gas Company for the test year of 1955 to the consuming public for 1,265,996 million cubic feet of gas as being unaccounted gas, which said gas, when multiplied by the average price paid for gas by the C&A of 26.19 cents per million cubic feet, amounted to $337,564.15 in addition to operating expenses.

The burden of proving the fairness of this operating expense was clearly not met by the proof, said the declaration. Company witnesses testified that this unaccounted for gas was not measured and doubted if it could be measured.

The protesters produced testimony to show that C&A's 1954 experience was a normal one, yet the commission in its decision completely ignored the burden of proof and the fact that this operating expense item was extraordinary and granted it in its entirety.

It was also stated by the city and county that the PSC in its decision allowed the company to amortize the cost of rate cases since 1952, at a cost of $97,877, over a five-year period at the rate of $19,575 per year. In view of the fact the company has had only three rate cases in 28 years, the petitioners stated that a 10-year amortization period was within keeping of what a reasonable and just amortization should be and that the PSC's action in this instance was capricious and arbitrary.

The petitioners further stated that in a previous rate case heard before the PSC involving C&A the commission established a fair rate of return for net utility income to the C&A of 5.75 per cent and that in the recent hearing, without sufficient evidence on which to predicate its decision, the commission arbitrarily increased the reasonable rate of return allowable to the company from the 5.75 per cent figure to 6 1/4 per cent all to the prejudice of the consuming public.

The Cumberland and Allegany Gas Company filed an appeal last Friday in Circuit Court of Baltimore from the decision of the PSC.

The appeal attacked the decision of the commission in the computation of the rate base. The company claimed the commission improperly excluded $105,000 from the figure on which the new rates were based.

The PSC approved the new rates Nov. 9. Under a rate schedule submitted by the company it would collect an additional $229,000 annually.

The commission turned down the firm's original request for an increase in its annual gross revenue of $295,000.

The rate schedules cover 20,800 Western Maryland customers of the company.

Opposes Tax Hikes

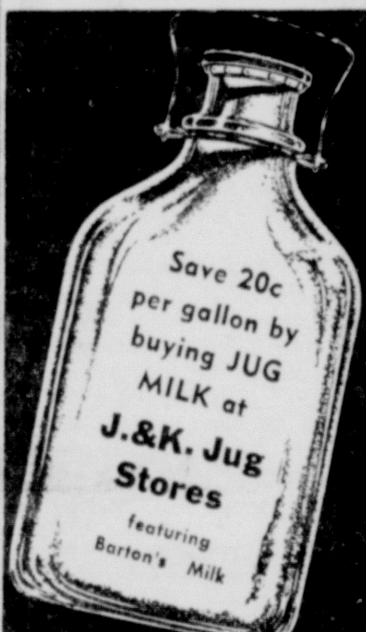

In general, Cohen reported that union forces are against all new taxes or increases in old taxes until "Gov. McKeldin proves that he needs it."

The governor has said he needs 7 million dollars to balance his budget and he has proposed a tax on tobacco. Some legislators are thinking about broadening the sales tax or increasing it while others are looking at the income tax.

Cohen said a committee of five will draft labor's program and also Bird dog the General Assembly for anything it considers against its interests.

The labor committee will be composed of the president and secretaries of the area CIO and AFL and a fifth member representing the independent unions of railroad employees.

The Railway has fought three previous assessments in circuit courts and won reduced assessments each time. However, when the 1954 assessments were appealed by the Board of Public Works from Mineral County Circuit Court to the State Supreme Court, the original assessment of 11 1/2 million dollars was upheld.

Both the 1955 and 1956 tax bills were paid by the Western Maryland, after the Board of Public Works was informed both assessments would be appealed.

Readiness is a physician's way of life

Long years of tireless study and training have prepared your doctor for that urgent ringing at his bedside. Someone needs him, and he's ready.

Suppose it was your voice speaking quick words into the phone, asking the doctor to hurry. Would this emergency find you prepared? Hospitalization, surgery, medical care—these cost money. Could you pay these unexpected bills?

Blue Shield, along with Blue Cross, helps to eliminate the worries about doctor or hospital bills. Blue Shield is the non-profit plan through which Blue Cross subscribers, already protected against the expense of hospital bills, can help each other pre-pay surgical, medical, and obstetrical expenses.

Blue Shield rounds out Blue Cross protection

To the hospital care benefits Blue Cross provides, Blue Shield adds surgical and medical benefits, and a wide range of other benefits such as: consultation, anesthesia, radiation therapy. To the wife on a family membership, Blue Shield offers liberal maternity benefits. You choose your own doctor. Blue Shield pays the full scheduled benefit for the surgical, medical or maternity care you need. Sponsored by over 2,000 participating physicians in Maryland, Blue Shield has the

W.Va. Industrial Development Authority Bill Is Prepared

State Legislature Convenes Tomorrow

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 7 (AP)—A bill which would set up a nine-member West Virginia Industrial Development Authority to aid companies to expand in the state was put into final shape here today.

The measure, headed for the Legislature convening Wednesday, went back to the attorney general's office for retying after last-minute changes made by a subcommittee of the governor's Committee on Industrial Development.

Under the proposal, the Authority would have $500,000 from which to make loans either to new industries desiring to come into West Virginia, or to state firms desiring financial aid in expansion projects.

Heading the subcommittee today was E. G. Otey, Bluefield bank president.

Committee spokesman explained that funds which could be diverted to the Authority, provided the bill is enacted into law, are set up in a Board of Public Works contingent fund in the new budget document.

General provisions of the measure would require local development agencies, such as chambers of commerce, to provide 20 per cent of any loan approved for an industrial firm.

That portion could be in the form of money, property or other approved items of consideration.

The State Development Authority would provide up to 30 per cent of the total estimated cost of the projects, as determined by the Authority.

The remaining 50 per cent of the loan would be provided through banks and other financial institutions, it was explained.

New England Buried Under Snow Blanket

(By The Associated Press) Heavy snow blanketed parts of New England Monday while a new surge of cold sent the mercury heading toward the zero mark along the Canadian border from Montana to Minnesota.

Eight inches of snow fell in Boston during the day. Snow also fell in parts of the mid-Atlantic states. Snow flurries were the rule from Michigan and Ohio into the Appalachians.

Gusty winds raised dust along the Eastern slopes of the Rockies and in New Mexico and Nebraska. Winds were brisk in the northeast and parts of the southern Appalachians. Wind gusts exceeded more than 40 m.p.h. in the hills of Virginia.

Requiem Mass Celebrated For Anderson T. Patrick

KEYSER — Requiem mass was celebrated at the Church of the Assumption by Rev. Kenneth Rizer, pastor, for Anderson Thomas Patrick, 38, who died in Potomac Valley Hospital a few hours after being stricken with a heart attack.

Mr. Patrick had been a partner, manager and chief engineer of the Keyser Television Company and was stricken while at work in his office.

A native of Westernport, he was a son of Mrs. Romana (Driscoll) Patrick, Ashfield Street, Piedmont, and Florian Patrick, who is seriously ill at his home in Kansas City, Missouri.

He attended St. Peter's parochial school and Bruce High School and then was employed in the electrical department at the Luke plant of the W. Va. Pulp and Paper Company.

In April 1941 Mr. Patrick enlisted in the Army Air Corps and served until November 1945 as an aerial gunner. During his tour of service he flew over 300 combat hours in the Middle East. His decorations and awards included the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Silver Star, Air Medal and Oak Leaf clusters.

On his discharge from the Air Force, he attended the Capitol Radio Engineering school in Washington, D. C. On his graduation there, he entered the employ of the Radio Corporation of America in Baltimore.

About five years ago he came to Keyser, where he organized the Keyser Television Company. He was a member of the Keyser Rotary Club and was the West-

Congress, Just Starting, Already Has 2,000 Bills

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7 (AP)—One thing about the new Congress: It already has enough work to keep busy the next two years even if it doesn't have another bill introduced.

House members have 2,124 proposals for new laws, plus a batch of resolutions, and this doesn't count what the senators are up to. Mostly, the bills are in the fields you would expect, agriculture, taxation and interstate commerce, but congressmen always have special worries and interests.

Some of these are continued worries, carried over from the last Congress.

Rep. Stuyvesant Wainwright (R-N.Y.), for example, still is disturbed about the housing conditions for the Richard M. Nixon. He again has introduced a bill to provide for an official home for the vice president.

Rep. H. R. Gross (R-Iowa) remains disturbed about how hard it is to see a freight train at a crossing in the night. He would like each car fixed up with lights or reflectors.

What this country needs, Rep. John E. Henderson (R-Ohio) says, is a postage stamp honoring the farmer. Rep. Gordon McDonough (R-Calif.) wants a stamp glorifying the school teacher.

Miners get the vote of Rep. Melvin Price (D-Ill.). His stamp would honor them and the coal-mining industry. Price also would like to have permanent firing squads for national cemeteries in which burials are conducted.

The newspaper business comes in for a plug. Rep. Carl Elliott (D-Ala.) would like to see a national library of weekly newspapers, he thinks the American weeklies are an excellent record of our early history.

Women long have complained that it's silly to put a luxury tax on handbags. Luxury? A necessity! Rep. Edna F. Kelly (D-N.Y.) again is trying to get the excise tax on handbags removed.

Rep. James A. Byrne (D-Pa.) thinks the U.S. flag should fly 24 hours every day over Independence Hall in Philadelphia. Rep. Lawrence H. Smith (R-Wis.) wants to tell the president that the U.S. delegation to the U.N. should see to it that the Soviet Union is booted out of that organization.

Rep. John H. Ray (R-N.Y.) hopes John Philip Sousa's "The Stars and Stripes Forever" will become the official national march.

It used to be not too uncommon for our statesmen to whip out firearms during a fierce debate. Now Rep. Hugh Scott (R-Pa.) would make it a felony to tote a deadly weapon around Congress, although the prohibition obviously is aimed more at visitors than at congressmen.

And who wants to push the unity of Ireland? Faith, who but John Edward Fogarty (D-R.I.)?

Baltimore Docs Split On Sirens

BALTIMORE, Jan. 7 (AP)—They've been successfully removed in New York, but Baltimore doctors are reluctant to amputate sirens on ambulances.

Although an informal poll showed most doctors doubt their value, half of them said they should not be removed.

Results of the poll and other queries were contained in a report to the Baltimore City Medical Society by a committee studying the problem of ambulance sirens.

Dr. Allen C. Woods Jr., who heads the committee, said the report was prompted by fatal ambulance accidents and by reports that some drivers were abusing their traffic privileges.

The committee recommended that the sirens be retained to obtain the right of way in heavily congested streets.

They found only two conditions when speed might save lives. They were when a patient was bleeding from a cut artery or was in deep shock.

Sirens were removed in New York after a study at one hospital showed ambulance accidents were cut in half and there were no serious complaints about service.

Of Washington doctors queried, 82 per cent thought sirens and excessive speed are generally unnecessary and a hazard to public and patient safety but half of them still favored keeping the sirens.

Mayor Signs Booster Week Proclamation

LONAONING — Mayor Virgil Alexander, following the council meeting last night, signed a proclamation declaring this week "Valley High School Booster Week", and urges residents to support the Boosters campaign for funds. The council made a donation of $25 to the fund, to help get the campaign underway. Gordon Green appeared at the council meeting as a Booster's representative.

Council also made several other donations including $10 to the March of Dimes drive; $10 to the Cancer Fund; and $25 to the Community Christmas Treat Committee.

Approval was given to a request of the Board of Election Supervisors to use the town hall January 16 for a meeting of community poll workers.

A bid from Marshall Lumber Company, to install new tile floors in the town hall was tabled for further consideration.

Following the meeting, Mayor Alexander, members of council and other town officials visited the local funeral home to express their sympathy to Police Commissioner Robert M. "Lefty" Grove, whose father died this week and will be interred today.

Fire Losses For 1956 Low At Frostburg

FROSTBURG — According to Paul Haberlein, chief of the Frostburg Fire Department, in his report to the City Council, there were 46 fire calls answered by the company during 1956. Thirty-three of these fires were within the corporate limits of the city and 13 were out of town calls.

In his report there were included in this total, 16 brush fires, seven flue fires, four caused by faulty wiring, eight auto and truck fires, three overheated stoves and eight property fires. The fire losses within the city limits amounted to approximately $5,350.

There were no fire calls during the months of July and September and no fires since December 11 to the present time, which includes the usually dangerous holiday season.

Haberlein's report also pointed out that an average of 21 men responded to each fire alarm during the year. "This is a commendable record," Haberlein said, "and certainly demonstrates how devoted the members of the Frostburg Fire Department are to their organization and to their duties as volunteer firemen."

Cadillac

Finally Believed His Eyes and Ears!

He has heard and read a great many wonderful things about this new 1957 Cadillac since it made its first appearance a few brief weeks ago——about its magnificent new luxury, for instance . . . its brilliant new power and responsiveness . . . its marvelous new handling ease . . . and its extraordinary new smoothness of ride.

And so, quite frankly, he began to wonder if it weren't all too good to be true. Could any motor car be as wonderful as this latest "car of cars" was reputed to be?

Well, he has decided to put his eyes and his ears to the test today. And the verdict is unmistakable!

It's a joy just to lean back into those deep, soft cushions and look out over that graceful hood into the beckoning highway.

And what a revelation the car is to drive!

A curve in the road ahead? He simply follows it with the arc of his hands and the car responds with perfect obedience.

A hill in the offing? He just nudges the accelerator and the car sweeps up and over as effortlessly as if it were traveling the level road.

A stop light coming up? He presses his toe—ever so gently—on the broad braking pedal and comes to the smoothest, surest stop imaginable.

Yes, it's true what they say about Cadillac. This is far and away the finest motor car ever to travel the world's highways.

How about you? Have you heard the wonderful things they're saying about this newest "car of cars"?

Well, the proof is in the driving—and the facts about Cadillac have never been more convincing.

Why not make it today?

Thanks, Nikita, For The Warning

A lot of water has flowed over Soviet dams since last February, when to tumultuous applause Party Secretary Khrushchev denounced Stalin and called upon the party "to restore completely the Leninist principles" Stalin had abandoned. There has been trouble in the satellites and a struggle for power within the Kremlin itself. And today the pro-Stalinists appear to have won a victory over Khrushchev and Lenin.

The most impressive evidence of this is the partial recantation of Khrushchev himself. At a New Year's party he said:

"I grew up with Stalin. Stalin made mistakes, but we should share responsibility for those mistakes we were associated with him. The imperialists call us Stalinists. Well, when it comes to fighting imperialism, we are all Stalinists."

By imperialism he means us. Soviet propaganda has never dropped its insistence that all the stronger powers of the West are imperialistic. But what does he mean by Stalinism? In a speech more than 10 months ago he told a different story.

Stalin, according to Khrushchev, was guilty of "administrative violence, mass repressions, and terror . . . often violating all existing norms of morality," of "mass arrests and deportations, execution without trial." His "dirty and shameful" methods of investigation "were simple—beat, beat, and again beat." He was guilty of self-adulation and unable to admit that he was ever wrong.

During the eight years Stalin directed the cold war, he showed all these qualities in his dealings with the West. Last February Khrushchev set out to convince the West that Russia's new leadership had abandoned those methods. Now he says Soviet leaders, in their relations with the West, are still "all Stalinists."

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Cult Of Personality

Perhaps one of the major difficulties among nations today is that there are so many personalities who are regarded as superior beings. Therefore in many countries the idea of a government of law not of men, of orderly and continuing procedures without regard to the men involved is hardly understandable.

For instance, in Egypt Nasser who organized a colonel's revolution and in due course placed himself at the head of the government is regarded as a superior man. President Eisenhower is in many countries also regarded as a superior man although he did not place himself at the head of government but was elected to office by a popular vote and might well have been defeated in a different kind of election. To Egyptians, Eden is a personality because he heads a government, only personalities being permitted to head governments. Apparently what these worshippers of personalities would like would be for these godlike creatures to fight each other as the gods quarrelled on Olympus.

For instance, "Al-Sadat," an Egyptian newspaper, said: "We can understand if America helps the British people, but we cannot understand at all America's helping Eden who has committed offenses against the British people, the United States, Europe, and the whole world. We remember well the offense he committed against the United States when he stood up to challenge President Eisenhower from the platform of the House of Commons, knowing full well that Eisenhower was tied down by the election campaign and therefore could not answer him or bring him to account."

What the writer of those lines does not seem to grasp is that Prime Ministers and Presidents come and go but that history is continuous. Did he really expect Eisenhower to fight Eden 10 rounds to determine who brought whom to account? This same article says that Sir Anthony Eden spent tremendous sums to defeat President Eisenhower for a second term, which, I am sure, will be news to Stevenson as well as to Eisenhower and Eden. As I recall it, the Democrats hardly had enough money to see them through the campaign. Also the British attack on Egypt not only did not interfere with President Eisenhower's reelection but guaranteed it because in the face of immediate military danger, many Americans voted for President Eisenhower who had no intention of doing so.

Attention is called to the curious psychology which places personality above all else as though men were gods and nations were the playthings of minor deities. Neither the United States nor Great Britain would be very different from what they are if either Eisenhower or Eden or both of them disappeared from the political scene.

An orderly governmental process is not dependent upon personalities. In Soviet Russia, Khrushchev, who led a revolt against the cult of personality now finds himself forced to bow his head to the man-god image of Stalin by the pressure of public opinion which having been accustomed to fear and worship of Stalin, first rejected Khrushchev's rationalization of Stalin's role in history and now rejects Khrushchev. Without Stalin, the Kremlin is only a dungeon; with Stalin, it meant power, force and death. Whichever way you look at it, the personality of Stalin was a cult because the Russian people were accustomed to autocracy and Stalin in that sense was the successor to Nicholas II, the last Romanov autocrat.

The Senator Brings His Lunch

Demos Have Control But Ike Has Their Issues

WASHINGTON

By Stewart Alsop

On Thursday, when the new Senate met and the roll was called, there was a moment of breathless suspense before Ohio's new Senator, unpredictable Frank Lausche, voted with the Democrats to organize the Senate. Lausche had told no-one how he would vote, and the relieved Democrats clapped and cheered. Logically, they should have wept.

For the fact is that the Democrats, in control of Congress, find themselves in a genuinely desperate situation. They are in a desperate situation simply because President Eisenhower, in pursuit of his stated purpose of making the Republican Party the nation's majority party, is getting ready to steal all their issues, and leave them naked as so many Jaybirds.

The President is now working hard on two major public documents—his State of the Union speech and his second Inaugural Address. The tone of the State of the Union speech, according to reliable report, will be "modern Republicanism" all the way, with heavy emphasis on such New Dealish issues as social security, health legislation, schools, farm aid, and notably, civil rights legislation.

The theme of the Inaugural Address will be "the price of peace," with equally heavy emphasis on the sacrifices which peace demands. Both speeches are intended to set the tone of the Administration for the years to come. Obviously, it is not a tone calculated to warm the hearts of the still powerful conservative-isolationist Republican hard core on Capitol Hill.

For the moment, the conservative Republicans have been maintaining a mouse-like silence, since they are still bemused by the Eisenhower triumph at the polls. But if they had organized the Senate, as they so nearly did, they would no doubt in time have given the President plenty of trouble. After all, when the Republicans were in control in the first two Eisenhower years, the President was driven to talking seriously of forming a third party.

But her accidents of nature, the rightwing Republicans will lack the key committee chairmanships, and thus the means of making real trouble for the President. Meanwhile, the Democrats are in no shape to make real trouble for him either.

The Democrats, especially the Northern liberals, are just as vividly aware as the President that the Democratic status as the national majority party is at stake. They know that the coalition put together by Franklin D. Roosevelt, which made the Democratic Party the normal majority for more than two decades, is showing every sign of cracking up. But what are they to do?

Plenty of Democrats are deeply disturbed by the Administration's conduct of defense and foreign policy, and the Middle East crisis will certainly be loudly debated. But there is not a man on Capitol Hill who believes that there is real political hay to be made by attacking the President's defense and foreign policy

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Some thirty years ago we explained the way to get across Fifth Avenue was to be born on the other side.

Since then traffic has compounded pedestrian interest until you take your life in your shoes.

In those days Commissioner Harris planted traffic towers in the middle of the avenue. Something like Philadelphia's City Hall which is now the world's largest road block.

The commissioner's towers were uprooted and are either in Hong Kong or Capetown. That's where Fifth Avenue's old buses go when they get drooping of the drip pan.

The buses sew up traffic like a tailor bird with two bills. They tried running 'em by radio. In a traffic jam they tuned in on Station WXXX and the passengers danced.

Now they're figuring on accordion-pleating the details by using the helicopter. They're trying to prevent ten buses from holding a transportation convention in one city block.

The schedule runs like the motormen were holding on to each other's neckties. A helicopter is one way to help a Boy Scout across the street.

If it's a success we'll let you know. If it's a flop we never heard of you.

Sen. Morse Chides Vice President; Dulles Gets Some Rough Treatment

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — A brief, pointed exchange between two men who don't love each other occurred when Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon took the oath before Vice President Nixon.

Nixon had gone out to Oregon twice to defeat Senator Morse. The campaign against him was considered the "Yale Game" of all the Senate elections. A member of the Eisenhower Cabinet had even resigned to run against Morse.

So, when Morse came up to the Senate rostrum to take the oath and shake hands with the Vice President, he said:

"Mr. Vice President, I want to thank you for those speeches you made in Oregon. They helped elect me."

Mr. Nixon gulped, then recovered quickly.

"Well, I'm glad they helped," he shot back with a smile.

"They certainly did," replied Morse.

"You rolled with the punches," chuckled Nixon.

"And you threw a few yourself," said Morse.

It was all over in 20 seconds: No one except the two men knew what had happened.

Note — Though there was a slight note of sarcasm in Morse's voice, he halfway meant what he said — that Nixon's speeches had helped. For, when Nixon first came to Oregon he gave a pep talk to GOP leaders at Salem urging them to go out and get Morse. "Don't pay any attention to issues," he said, "get out the vote." Later ex-Secretary of the Interior Doug McKay got this confused. "Issues are not important," he told the audience. "It's the votes that count."

Morse hung this around McKay's neck. In speech after speech he said: "I want to let you in on a big secret. You know the position of my opponent, that issues aren't important. Well, at 2 a. m. on November 7 he's going to discover that issues were important after all and that he's going back to that struck auto agency of his in Salem to sell Cadillacs again."

Roughing Up Dulles

Democratic Senators are really throwing the hooks into John Foster Dulles on his Mid-East policy, and doing it deliberately. Shortly before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee met with Dulles last week, Senate leader Lyndon Johnson phoned four members of the Committee — Mansfield of Montana, Sparkman of Alabama, Fulbright of Arkansas, and Humphrey of Minnesota — advising them not to pull any punches.

They didn't. On top of this Johnson attended the closed-door session himself and wrote notes to the Senators suggesting questions to ask the Secretary of State.

Democrats were ired at the way the Administration was forcing them to take a stand on the "Eisenhower doctrine" by the barrage of publicity leaked to the press in advance. They gave Dulles such a rough time that at one point he said:

"There's only one man responsible for the foreign policy of the United States — the President."

"Then why are you coming to us with this resolution?" the Senators cracked back. "If the President has the responsibility, let him exercise it."

Backstage With Nixon

Vice President Nixon's surprise statement that he believed the present filibuster rule "un-constitutional" actually had been carefully worked out in advance. The people who worked with him were none other than some of the most liberal Democrats in the Senate, led by Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota.

Humphrey went to Nixon in advance of the showdown vote, asked point blank if Nixon would answer a "point of order" if it were asked of him during the debate on ending filibusters. A point of order is a parliamentary inquiry which is not binding on the Senate.

"Don't get the wrong idea," said Humphrey, "we're not trying to put you on the spot. But if you give the right answer it may make another Abraham Lincoln out of you."

Nixon listened sympathetically. "If you give the right answer," Humphrey continued, "we think it would influence some Republican votes and that's why we're asking you."

Nixon discussed the matter carefully, indicated he would probably give the right answer. Later he did. His statement should have far-reaching effects on his Negro voters if he runs for President in 1960.

Senate Scribbles

Senators have been playing their biennial game of "musical chairs" with Senate offices. The best offices go to the Senators with the most seniority. When a high-seniority Senator leaves, there are shifts all down the line.

Outgoing Sen. Walter George (D. Ga.), No. 1 on the old seniority list, refused to vacate his quarters until the last minute. This held up moves by Sen. Albert Gore (D. Tenn.), waiting to claim George's office; Sen. Gordon Allott (R., Colo.), waiting for Gore's office; and Sen. Frank Church (D. Ida.), waiting for Allott to move. . . . So a dozen Senators were camped in the corridors while cleanup crews frantically painted and polished. . . . Pan American Airways' affable Alex Gates picked his way through the furniture stacked in the hallways, looking for the office assigned to Sen. Chapman Revercomb (R., W. Va.). Gates stopped at a pile of debris in front of one door to ask directions. "Revercomb?" repeated a harassed secretary. "He's the next point job down the hall." . . . Photographers waited outside the Senate caucus room for the Democrats to break up their closed-door meeting. Just as the doors were opened, tousle-haired Sen. Frank Lausche (D., Ohio) strolled into the building. He was the man of the hour. Photographers ignored the open door and flocked after Lausche. . . . Inside the caucus room Senate leader Lyndon Johnson sadly announced to fellow Democrats who were adjusting their ties for the photographers: "Gentlemen, we have only one photographer. The others have all gone to Lausche."

The truest joys they seldom prove
Who free from quarrels live:
'Tis the most tender part of love
Each other to forgive.

It was in that lively musical show titled "Little Johnny Jones" that George M. Cohan introduced the immortal ditty "Give My Regards to Broadway." When "Little Johnny Jones" was first performed in New York it was a failure. Did Cohan close the show? No, sir. He was made of sterner stuff. He took the production on the road again, polished it up, did a lot of rewriting and returned to Broadway with it later and it developed into a smash hit. It was "Little Johnny Jones" that inspired the saying, "Good plays are not written. They are rewritten."

"Your obvious partiality for Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 22) women is revolting. They certainly have you intimidated," writes a Chicagoan. "I know many Scorpio women and have carefully noted their characteristics. They are big, bulky, boastful, bovine and borbore. Their sex appeal is of the plunging neckline, hip-wiggling variety plus large doses of provocative perfume. And what nasty tempers!"

ASKING

Queries from clients. Q. Have heard several different reasons advanced as to why a woman wears her wedding ring on the third finger of the left hand. What have you to say about this? A. The third finger of the left hand is known as "The Finger of Life" and connects with the heart. So it was selected for the wearing of the wedding ring. Q. Where are the restaurants originally having the following names: 1. Ciro's. 2. Larue. 3. Stork Club? A. The original Ciro's is on the Rue Danou in Paris. The original La Rue, formerly on the Place de la Madeleine, Paris has gone out of business. The original Stork Club is in The Hague, Holland.

PLEASE NOTE

Are you by any chance, scheduled to have a session with a dentist? Please accept my sympathy. I hope he isn't going to use the drill. The best time to have an appointment with a dentist is in the morning. In the afternoon the old boy's efficiency is usually below par. He is full of lunch and the strain of standing up is beginning to get him down.

CONTRACTS

In a lawsuit in which a printed contract was involved, the defendant stated he hadn't read the "fine print" in said contract. It was what was in the "fine print" that lost him the case. I always read every word in a printed contract six times. That is except the "fine print" part. I read that 12 times. And with a magnifying glass. That's the part you really have to be careful about.

Regular Sleep Habits Important For Children

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The clock can be blamed when the hands point to shuteye time, so that the small fry do not feel that Mom and Dad are trying to get rid of them at the end of the day. If early to bed is the rule, the parents have a few hours to relax after the youngsters fall asleep.

There are several tricks to prevent Freddie from procrastinating. A 10 to 15 minute warning can be given so he can put away his toys or finish anything he is doing. The pre-bedtime period should be peaceful and happy. Make it pleasant with conversation, stories, or music, but exciting play and roughhousing are out.

The same factors that encourage sleep in adults apply to toddlers. The room must be quiet and dark and have a reasonable temperature and no distractions. All these environmental aspects should be in order when the zero hour arrives and lights go out.

But despite everything, some youngsters stall by asking for a drink of water or a handkerchief. A trip to the bathroom is the favorite alibi. Much of this fussing stems from the need for more attention and devotion. Behavior problems like this are less likely to occur when bedtime is made more pleasant and leisurely.

Dreams and nightmares may disturb sleep and are difficult to avoid completely. Here again, the child who feels secure and loved tends to sleep blissfully. The same applies to those who are not overstimulated, overtired, or frightened. If a tot awakens from sleep crying, he should be soothed and calmed; he needs your help at such a time.

Try And Stop Me!

A writer finally gained an audience with a hard-to-pin-down Hollywood studio head and was told he had exactly two minutes to outline the plot of his proposed screen play. The writer was disgruntled but game. He finished his synopsis in two minutes flat, scarcely pausing to take breath. The studio head snarled, "That's the loudest story line I've heard in years! Get out!"

"Hold on," interrupted the writer. "That outline I gave you wasn't my story. It is that of Shakespeare's 'Hamlet.' I'll tell you my story when you've got more time!"

College Baseball Coaches Urge Ban On Pro Scouts

Favor Ending Courtesies To Ivory Hunters

Majors Junked Rule Forbidding Signing Other Than Frosh

By HUGH FULLERTON Jr., ST. LOUIS, Jan. 7 (P)—College baseball coaches struck back angrily at professional ball today in an effort to retaliate for the elimination of the major league college rule.

Stirred by the sudden ending of a protective rule for which they had worked eleven years, the executive committee of the American Assn. of College Baseball Coaches recommended a ban against professional scouts contacting players on college campuses. The coaches said in effect that they proposed to end all courtesies which have been shown to scouts in the past and to make it as tough as possible for them to get in touch with college players.

Ethan Allen of Yale, AACBC president and a former major league player himself, said the rule obviously will be hard to enforce, but it would be followed by an educational campaign designed to tell college players and their parents the advantages of keeping a boy in college rather than letting him sign up with the pros.

Sees Measure Passing

Allen predicted the measure will be passed tomorrow at the general meeting of the association. A round table discussion this morning indicated that opinion was almost unanimous in favor of the ban.

The colleges and major leagues have been operating under a rule which forbade scouts from signing a college player from the start of his sophomore year until he either graduated or reached the age of 21. The minor leagues refused to sign a similar agreement and this winter the majors suddenly dropped it because they said the rule was too easily evaded by signing players through minor league clubs.

"We always have been very friendly with professional baseball," Allen said, "but we have worked 11 years and got nowhere. All we want to do is stop promiscuous signing of players we think won't make the grade as pros."

Mad At What They Do

"We're not mad at anybody; we're just mad at what they do."

This action of the baseball coaches executive committee was the first important move of the week-long session of the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. and its various allied sports bodies.

Most of the NCAA business still is in the committee stage with the first discussions scheduled for Wednesday. The football coaches, who annually stir things up with a continuing rumor market about jobs and job changes, have just begun to trickle into town for their meetings, beginning Wednesday.

NCAA officials today released the report of their Olympic committee, showing that nearly $500,000 had been raised through college sources to support the 1956 U.S. Olympic team.

Delany Flies Home

SHANNON, Ireland, Jan. 7 (P)—

Ireland's Ron Delany, who won the Olympic 1,500-meter run, left by plane for the United States today to resume studies at Villanova University.

HE'S VICE PRESIDENT NOW—Jackie Robinson, his baseball days over, is now Mr. Jack R. Robinson, vice president in charge of personnel for a restaurant chain. But Robinson, in moving from the diamond to a business executive's desk, has crossed swords with Brooklyn Dodger vice president Buzzie Bavasi over the way the announcement of his retirement was made. Robinson, the first Negro to play in the major leagues, has been named national chairman of the 1957 freedom fund campaign of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. SPORTS GRILL

by Pat Robinson

International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, JAN. 7 (INS)—Nat Fleisher, the world's leading authority on boxing, has made more money out of the fight racket than 99 per cent of the fighters who ever lived.

The little editor-publisher of the Ring Record Book and Ring Magazine, is working on his second million and hopes to make it long before he retires about 1962.

Nat is 69 but he works longer and harder than anybody we know. He has written 53 books on boxing and boxers, wrestlers and wrestling and now is working simultaneously on three others.

He recently completed his autobiography, a little matter of 400,000 words, which he knocked off in his spare moments.

In 52 years of newspaper and magazine writing and editing, Nat undoubtedly has seen more fights in more places than anybody on earth.

He has twice circled the globe, made 28 trips to England and the continent besides four extensive tours through South America, South Africa and Asia and has refereed bouts in most of the foreign spots.

He has been decorated twice by the Italian government and once each by France, the Argentine and Siam. Not long ago the King of Siam made Nat a knight of the Order of the White Elephant, the highest award an alien can get in Siam.

There are thousands of books on fighting and wrestling—many of them rare tomes—in Nat's private library which, he says, is the largest in the world on boxing.

He has boxing trophies of all kinds in his private museum and he values the lot of at more than $500,000.

Over the years Nat has handed out 166 championship belts, each worth $350.

He considers Jack Johnson the greatest fighter of all time and he lists the Luis Firpo-Jack Dempsey title fight as the most thrilling of the many thousands he has seen.

Brandeis received one first place vote

He was graduated from the City College of New York and started his newspaper career on the now defunct New York Morning World in 1905.

In college Nat had some ambitions as an amateur boxer. He gave up the idea when he was knocked out with one punch by a lad who outweighed him 10 pounds.

"I didn't mind him knocking me out so much," Nat recalls. "But I felt like a chump when I learned the fellow was a fairly well seasoned professional."

"Anyhow, that was a lesson which taught me never to take anything or anybody in the fight game for granted."

"And anyhow, it's been far more fun and much more profitable to be on the outside of the ring looking in than to be on the inside getting knocked out of it."

City Leaguers Clash Tonight

Two Games Billed At Fort Hill Gym

Action resumes in the City Basketball League tonight with a doubleheader at the Fort Hill High School gym.

In the opening game at 7 o'clock the Knights of Columbus (0-3) will battle the Forty & Eight Club while in the nightcap at 9 o'clock the Old Germans (2-0) will meet the Rec Five (1-1).

A victory for the Old Germans will tie them with Peskin's for first place and would set the stage for the battle between undefeated quints on Wednesday night at Carver gym.

Tonight's games will be the first in the league after a layoff of two weeks.

There is no admission charged for these games and the public is invited to attend.

Grand Knights Score 3-0 Win In K.C. Loop

The Grand Knights swept three games from the Chancellors and the Guards earned a 2-1 decision over the Recorders last night as the second half championship race of the Knights of Columbus Bowling League got under way on the Club Recreation alleys.

High man for the evening was Tom McGeady, of the Chancelors, with a 205-475. Other high scorers were Fred Corbin, Grand Knights, 185-471, and Tom Connelly, of the same team, 221-471. Owen McGreevy, Recorders, 174-469, and Norman Sell, Guards, 203-440. Standings:

Melvin Quint Hikes Sunday School Lead

Calvary Methodist Tops Bethany, 33-30

Melvin Methodist increased its lead in the American Division of the Sunday School Basketball League to 1½ games by defeating St. John's Lutheran yesterday at the YMCA by the score of 40-22.

The victory was the tenth in 11 starts for the league leaders while the loss was the ninth in 10 games for St. John's.

DeLaGrange and Hampson with 10 points each sparked the winners' offensive. Davis and Bittner had 10 points each for St. John's.

A field goal by Larry Snyder and a free throw by Tommy Benson in the closing seconds enabled Calvary Methodist to eke out a 33-30 decision over Bethany E. U. B. in the second game of the twin bill.

Calvary tied Living Stone Church of the Brethren and Grace Baptist for the runner-up spot by posting its 8th win in 10 starts. Bethany has won six and lost five.

Snyder slammed in 16 points for Calvary. Airmen's seven points was high for Bethany.

Today at 6 o'clock, Grace Baptist will play the South Cumberland Salvation Army quint at the YMCA. The lineups:

Courchesne Defeats Busso At St. Nick

NEW YORK, Jan. 7 (P)—Bobby Courchesne, a busy little beaver from Holyoke, Mass., gained an upset, split decision over Johnny Busso of New York in a television 10-rounder at St. Nicholas Arena. The defeat snapped Busso's winning streak at seven.

Courchesne, substituting for former lightweight champion Paddy De Marco, spotted Busso 5½ pounds—134½ to 140—considerable height and reach but earned the close verdict with a relentless attack.

Judge Artie Aidala voted for Courchesne, 5-4-1. Referee Teddy Martin also had Bobby ahead, although he gave each five rounds. On the supplementary point system, Martin had Bobby in front, 6-5. Judge Bert Grant cast his vote for Busso, 6-3-1. The Associated Press card had it even, 5-5.

Los Angeles Golf Tourney Won By Ford

Doug's 280 Beats Hebert By Stroke For $7,000 Prize

By BOB MYERS

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 7 (P)—Husky Doug Ford smashed through a massed scoring jam late this rainy afternoon to win the $35,000 Los Angeles Open Golf Tournament with a last-round score of 69 and a 72-hole total of 280.

Winner of many major golfing events in the nation but never this one before, the 33-year-old Ford picked up the $7,000 top money with rounds of 69-71-71-69—280, four under par for the par 36-35—71 Rancho Golf Club course.

Heading into the last nine holes of the wintertime classic, Ford was one of 13 players bunched within a two-stroke spread. There was still another threesome to finish when the handsome pro from Mahopac, N.Y., putted out on the crowded 18th green.

He had known for four holes that par on in would give him the victory by one shot over Jay Hebert, who had come in earlier with a 67 for 281.

Ford settled down and got the needed pars.

Covers Hole With Cap

In jubilant fashion Ford leaped with joy, yanked off his cap and covered the hole with it, and later exclaimed:

"This is always one of the big ones to win."

Hebert, never a winner of a money tournament, collected $3,750 for his second place. The 33-year-old Sanford, Fla. golfer had 70-72-72-67—281 in his bid for the jackpot.

One by one the opposition faded back as they toured the course, which played even longer than its official 7,131 yards.

Gardner Dickinson, the leader setting forth, fell back with a 77 for 285. Art Wall Jr., in second place this morning, shot a 74 for 283.

Middlecoff Posts 285

Cary Middlecoff hit out of bounds on the ninth hole and trudged in with a 73 for 285.

Tommy Bolt put on a show of putting for birds but luck ran out and his 70 placed him at 283 and a tie with Wall and four others.

One of them was Jack Burke Jr., another likely contender, whose par 71 just wasn't good enough. The others in the 283 bracket were Tommy Jacobs, of Montebello, Calif., Dave Marr of Mamaroneck, N.Y., and Jimmy Clark of Los Angeles.

Dow Finsterwald, Billy Maxwell, Fred Hawkins and Marty Furgol all finished at 284; Middlecoff, Doug Higgins, Dickinson and Billy Casper tied at 285.

Boyle May Dispose Of Race Track

Waterford Purchase Option Is Granted

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 7 (P)—The Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Assn. said today it would be represented at a scheduled meeting of the State Racing Commission Thursday at 10 a.m.

In a statement to that effect by John Manfuso, national adviser of the HPBA, attention was called to a report that A. J. Boyle, owner of the Charles Town and Waterford Park race tracks, had granted a purchase option on the mile oval at Waterford Park, near Chester.

The Boyle management and the HPBA have been warring over purses paid to horse owners. The HPBA claims that a total of $169,000 is due horsemen from the two tracks.

A representative of the organization said there were reports in horse racing circles that Nicholas Tweel of Huntington and other interests had taken an option to buy the Waterford track. This information said he understood the option was good until Jan. 24.

Thursday's meeting of the Racing Commission is scheduled just four days before Gov.-elect Cecil L. Underwood takes office.

It is considered very likely that one of the new governor's first steps will be the appointment of new personnel to that agency.

Thus no binding actions are expected to be taken by the commission as it is presently constituted.

Pittsburgh Signs Roberto Clemente

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 7 (P)—The Pittsburgh Pirates said today they have signed outfielder Roberto Clemente to a contract for the 1957 season.

General Manager Joe L. Brown signed Clemente in Puerto Rico, where he is playing for San Juan in the Puerto Rican winter league. Terms were not made public.

The Pirates said Clemente has batted well over .400 in the winter league and recently set a new league record by collecting hits in 24 consecutive games. He batted .311 for the Pirates last season.

Piedmont High Ties For Lead In Conference

Lions Win, 57-42, Over Fort Ashby

PIEDMONT, W. Va., Jan. 7 (P)—Piedmont High School tied the West Virginia School for the Deaf for first place in the Potomac Valley Conference tonight by defeating Fort Ashby High School here to the tune of 57-42.

The deadlocked leaders have 4½ records.

Fort Ashby grabbed a 5-2 edge early in the first period but Piedmont took over the lead and held it the remainder of the game after the score had been knotted a 6-6. At halftime the Lions held the long end of a 27-22 score.

Dick Niland and Joe Taylor collected 15 and 14 points to pace the Piedmont scorers while Sam Barnes dumped in 15 to lead the visitors.

The Niland brothers, Dick and Joe, fouled out in the final period. Gary Isner, Fort Ashby forward, suffered an eye injury and was forced to withdraw in the 1st quarter.

Piedmont's overall record is 4-2. Fort Ashby owns a 4-3 mark in the league and a season record of five wins and four losses.

Allegany Tests Beall's Unbeaten Quint Here Tonight

LaSalle Will Face Bisons At Bedford

Fort Hill Visits
Bruce; Mt. Savage
At Valley High

The first clash of the season between Allegany County Class "A" schools is set for Campobello tonight when Beall High School's unbeaten Mountaineers tackle Allegany High School in a W. M. I. League contest.

Beall is one of the few teams in the tri-state area that boasts an unblemished record and Allegany looms as the toughest opponent on the Mountaineers' schedule to date.

Allegany won both the W. M. I. and county Class "A" championships last season. Beall turned the trick in 1955.

Win Seven Straight

Coach "Ebbie" Finzel's club has scored seven wins over Meyersdale, twice, Southern, twice, Piedmont, Bruce and the Alumni. The Mountain City quint opened its W. M. I. campaign Friday with a 59-53 win over the Bruce Bulldogs.

Gene Shaw's Campers have won six out of seven games, their only setback coming at the hands of the Cadets in Frederick, 62-56. Allegany holds decisions over North Hagerstown, Westminster, Keyser, the Alumni, Ridgeley and Mt. Savage, which dropped a 35-61 decision in the W. M. I. opener here last week.

Mt. Savage plays at Valley High and Bruce plays host to Fort Hill's Sentinels in other county league battles tonight. The Mt. Savage-Valley tilt is the first of the season in the race for county Class "B" honors. Valley is the defending county and state champion in that division. Coach John Meyers' Black Knights got off to a good start in the league with a 60-48 decision over Fort Hill.

Bedford Hosts LaSalle

LaSalle High's Explorers journey to Bedford tonight to do battle with Coach Bob Andrews' Bisons in the opener of their two game series. Bedford won its first four games but finally was spilled by Stoneycreek High in a 48-47 thriller Friday at Shanksville, Pa. LaSalle will be making its ninth start of the season, having won five out of eight games.

Moorefield and Franklin will windup their two-game series in the P.V.C. tonight at Franklin. Coach Gus Smith's Panthers downed the Yellowjackets on their home floor by the score of 51-42 in the opener.

Fort Ashby will be seeking a sweep of its series with the Pirates when the teams collide tonight at Fort Ashby. Coach Quintine Savers' Eagles won at Paw Paw, 66-44.

The third P.V.C. game on tap tonight brings together Romney High's Pioneers and Wardensville's Warriors at the latter place. Romney is right in the thick of the conference championship race with a 4-1 record while Wardensville has dropped five in a row.

Coach "Honey" Crites' Petersburg Vikings (4-2) steps out of the conference to tackle Greenbank High School.

Mountaineers At Oakland

Mountaineer High School of Tucker County, sparked by the area's top scorer in Herman (Buddy) Meyer, engages Southern's Highlanders tonight at Oakland. The Thomas quint is on a 4-game winning streak and owns a season record of 5-1. Southern has dropped six in seven outings.

Hyndman's High's Hornets go after win No. 7 when they oppose Oldtown High School's Indians (1-5) at Oldtown.

Coach Paul Kalbaugh's Elk Garden Elks, now in the .500 class with a 4-4 record, entertain Bayard High School (0-6), Parsons High's Panthers (3-1) journey to Mill Creek to shoot it out with Tygart's Valley High and Northern High's Huskies (3-4) play host to Coach John Lichvar's Berlin-Brothersvalley High quint from Somerset county, Pa.

Coach Jerry Calhoun's undefeated Berkeley Springs Indians are shooting for their 7th win of the season when they face Shepherdstown High's Cardinals on the Berkeley court.

Potomac At Altoona

Idle since December 19, Potomac State College swings into action for the first time in the new year to windup its two-game series with Altoona Undergraduate Center on the Pennsylvanians' court. One of the three wins in nine outings for Coach Dana Lough's Catamounts came at the expense of Altoona, 105-72.

Steelers Get Owens

HATTIESBURG, Miss., Jan. 7 (AP)—Mississippi Southern football tackle Don Owens said today he had signed a contract with the Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Football League and expected to play with them next fall.

Earlier, both the Montreal Alouettes of the Canadian Big Four League, and the Steelers had claimed they signed Owens last weekend in Mobile where he played in the Senior Bowl.

Ex-Buck Cager Becomes Hero In Turkey

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
Central Press Association
Correspondent

WASHINGTON — One day recently, on a school blackboard in Istanbul, a Turkish boy wrote these words: "Sam, please stay."

It was a far cry from the scribbles found on the walls of many other countries which read, "Yankees, go home."

For the Turks didn't want Sam to return to the United States.

In the 11 months he had spent in their country, he had become almost a national hero. Who was this man who endeared himself and America to the Turks?

He was Sam Fox, 35, of Washington, D. C. He taught young Turks how to play basketball and baseball and to all Turks he epitomized democracy in action.

Sam stands six feet four inches tall. He weighs 240 pounds. He starred in football and basketball at Ohio State university and coached these sports during the war at Navy bases and universities.

Later, he played two seasons with the New York Giants' football team and was named a rookie lineman of the year. In 1948, he coached the Ottawa Rough Riders to the professional football championship of the Canadian league.

Sam was director of information and recreation for the Kansas City (Mo.) community centers last year when the State department asked him to introduce basketball in Turkey as part of its International Education Exchange program.

Sam was undoubtedly the most successful ambassador of good will this country ever sent to Turkey, with which the U. S. is allied in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

HIS ACHIEVEMENTS were phenomenal. He spoke (in Turkish, which he soon learned in the Turkish-American School in Ankara) about basketball to more than 618,000 adults and youngsters in 160 schools, colleges and athletic clubs in five cities.

But he did not limit his talks to basketball (or baseball which he added informally to his curriculum). He held seminars on American and Turkish friendship and culture.

In order to acquaint Turks with what was going on in the United States, he did many things which had little to do with sports.

He formed the Taxi club. Because, said Sam, cab drivers start much Turkish gossip in their vehicles and he wanted them to know what they were talking about when they spoke of America.

He spoke over Radio Istanbul and was invited before long, as his fame grew, to address the Turkish General Assembly.

His wife, Gerri, former New York model and actress, also did her part. She showed Turkish girls how to put on a Western-type charity fashion show. The Foxes lived in an apartment overlooking the colorful Bosphorus with their two children, Alan, 5, and Ira, 3.

SAM'S BASKETBALL team, which he organized soon after arrival, proved a sensation in Turkey. The 15-man Turkey All-Stars played tournaments with American mission teams with quintets from other NATO countries. Sam arranged the games.

In Belgrade, Sam was asked to hold a clinic for coaches, referees and players of Communist satellite teams who were attending a basketball tournament in the Yugoslav capital.

"I told them," he said, "that sports developed better citizens because they teach co-operation, courtesy, discipline, and most important of all, democracy. I hit the last word hard and, by gosh, they listened intently."

When Sam returned home, the governor of Istanbul, Vali Gokay, presented him with Turkey's Medal of Honor.

"You will be a friend of Turkey always," he told Sam. "You have brought Turkey and America closer together."

WHEN SAM went to Turkey, soccer was the nation's most popular sport. When he left, basketball was a close runner-up and many Turkish fans were yelling, in English, Get those re-bounds."

For Sam instructed his players to learn the language. The fans also caught on quickly.

Franz Gabl, Ski Expert, Who Writes New Series

Introducing Franz Gabl, who will write a "how to ski" series for this newspaper, is internationally famous as both a skier and coach of Olympic ski teams in Europe and on the North American continent.

Secrets Of Charm
by John Robert Powers

Sometimes it's as necessary to alter the figure to fit the dress as it is to alter the dress to fit the figure.

Stay In Good Standing

Once you know the model's secret of looking your best in a dress, you always deal with the alteration department of the store as well as with a saleswoman. Models, even with their perfect figures, never buy a dress as it comes. They never fail to have it tailored to an exact fit, even though needed alterations are slight.

Then, if your posture is always as good as when you stood up straight for the fitter, the perfectly fitted dress will always be a special pleasure to wear. But that's just the trouble. Too often the pose in the fitting room isn't the one that's habitual—and it's as necessary to alter the figure to fit the dress as it is to have the dress altered to fit the figure. The backbone that was so smooth on the new slim wool dress may seem to have developed wrinkles with a few wearings. It hasn't—the wrinkles simply showed up the minute you let your shoulder sag. The bust curves that you filled in so nicely at first may seem to have deflated. Of course they do when your whole figure droops. The skirt that now seems so tight over the abdomen hasn't shrunk—you're pulling it taut by slumping and letting your abdomen protrude.

Good posture's no good unless it is a habit. That's why we stress how to make good posture natural, easy and constant, not merely how to correct posture faults, in my booklet, "Your Posture." A good reason for sending for it is to learn what it teaches about keeping a good fit for your clothes so you'll look and feel best in them. Ten cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope received by me at this newspaper will speed the booklet to you. Tomorrow Blend your base.

Swiss mothers in the canton of Valais carry their babies on top of their heads. The baby is strapped inside a wooden cradle, which rests on a thick cushion perched on the mother's head. With her hands thus freed, the woman does her knitting as she jogs up and down steep rocky paths.

CONSTIPATED?
new laxative discovery
un-locks bowel blocks
without gag, bloat or gripe

Constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon. A "thrifty" colon is one that, instead of retaining moisture as it should, does the opposite: robs the colon of so much moisture that its contents become dehydrated, so dry that they block the bowel; so shrunken that they fail to excite or stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

TO REGAIN NORMAL REGULARITY two things are necessary. First, the dry, shrunken contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be re-moistened. Second, bulk must be brought to your colon to S-T-R-E-T-C-H STIMULATE it and so, excite its muscles to action; to a normal urge to purge.

ONLY A BULK LAXATIVE can 1) re-moisten this dry, shrunken waste and 2) supply vital bulk to re-create a normal urge to purge. And, of all bulk laxatives, COLONOID, the amazing new laxative discovery is so effective that it relieves even chronic constipation overnight, yet is so smooth, so gentle it has been proved safe even for women in the most critical stages of pregnancy. SUPERIOR TO OLD STYLE bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONOID neither gags, bloats nor gripes; does not interfere with your absorption of vitamins and other valuable food nutrients; and in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other side reactions. IT'S A PHYSIOLOGICAL FACT: Exercise tones your body! And COLONOID exercises your colon to tone it against constipation, overnight! Whether occasional, frequent or chronic, whatever your degree of constipation, get COLONOID, in easy-to-take tablet form at any drug counter, today! The price, only 98c for the economical 60 tablet package, brings you positive relief at less than 2c per tablet.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 8 (INS)— Artists. There's also a Robert since "The Rainmaker," the name Earl Holliman has become increasingly important in our town. Hal Wallis tells me that he is putting Earl and Shirley MacLaine, who did all right in "Around the World in 80 Days," in "Hot Spell."

This is Shirley Booth's next for Hal, and he says he is going to see that Earl and the MacLaine girl get special billing. I really thought that Shirley MacLaine's performance in "Around the World in 80 Days" ranked with that of David Niven and Catherina, and was one of the big surprises of the picture.

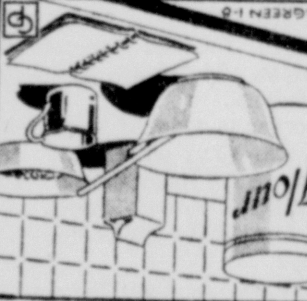

With all Bette Davis' good intentions to settle down in Maine as a house frau she just doesn't seem able to escape Hollywood. She'll be here on the 28th to start rehearsals for two filmed TV shows, and as long as she's on the coast she'll get started on "Angel Manager," her own motion picture production, in which she'll play a nun who manages a Little League baseball team.

Gary Merrill will precede Bette to Hollywood this weekend to talk to Mike Curtiz and Marty Raskin about playing Helen Morgan's press agent in "The Jazz Age."

Talented young Susan Kohner had her plane ticket bought and was all packed to return to New York where she had entered dramatic school when a motion picture offer came her way.

Susan just couldn't resist the chance to play opposite Sal Mineo in "Dino," which Tommy Carr is directing for Allied

The bidding:
North 1 heart Pass East 2 no trump West 3 no trump Pass

Opening lead: Ten of diamonds.

Today's hand, taken from a recent master's tournament, features a novel safety play that eluded all but one of the experienced declarers who played the hand.

The final contract was three no trump. North opened with one heart. South, with a balanced hand and 14 points, saw nothing to be gained by an approach bid and properly responded with two no trump.

The West hand presented no very attractive choice for the opening lead, and in several cases the short suit lead of the ten of diamonds was selected. Some declarers, lulled into the belief that the lead was from ten-nine, played the jack from dummy, which was covered by East's queen and South's king. With eight tricks immediately cashable, South proceeded to play for the ninth, finessing dummy's eight of diamonds. The rude awakening came when East took the trick with the nine and shifted to the ten of spades, to gather in four more tricks.

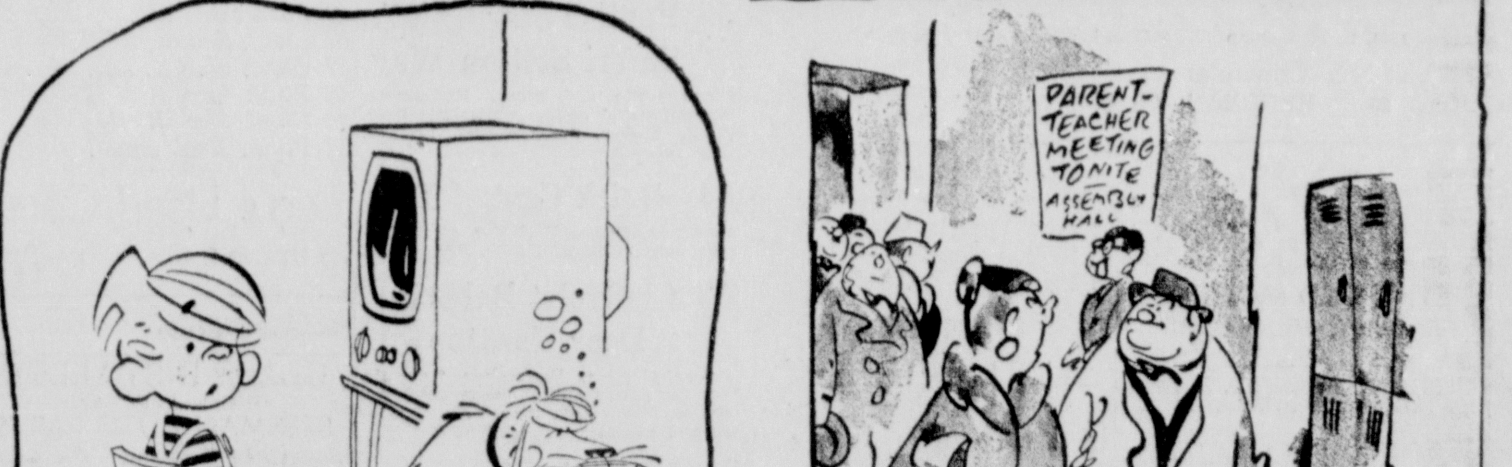

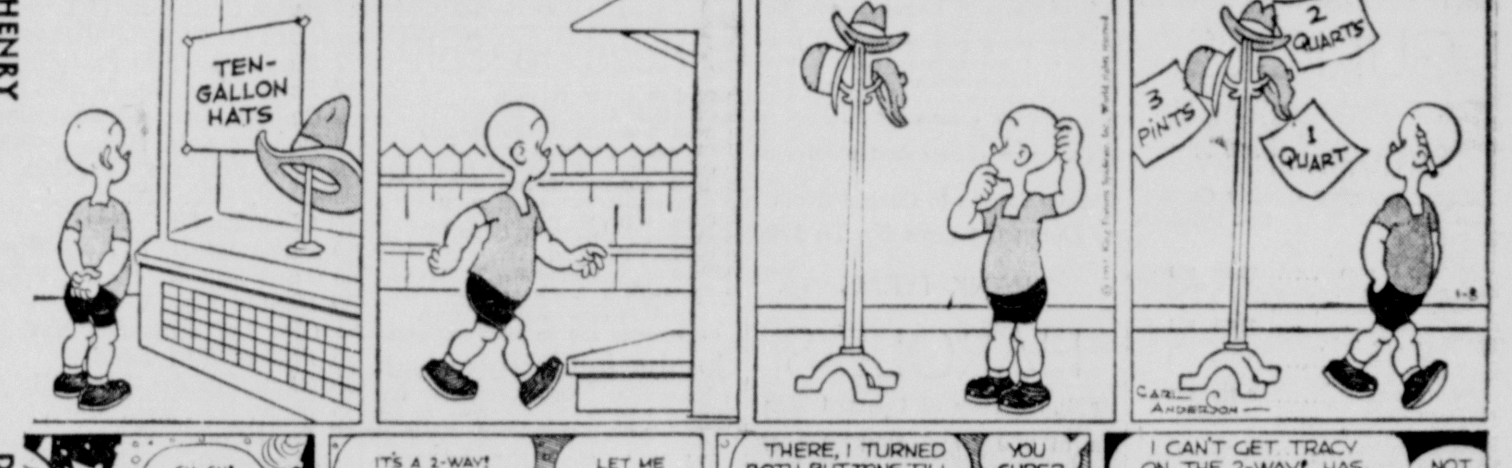

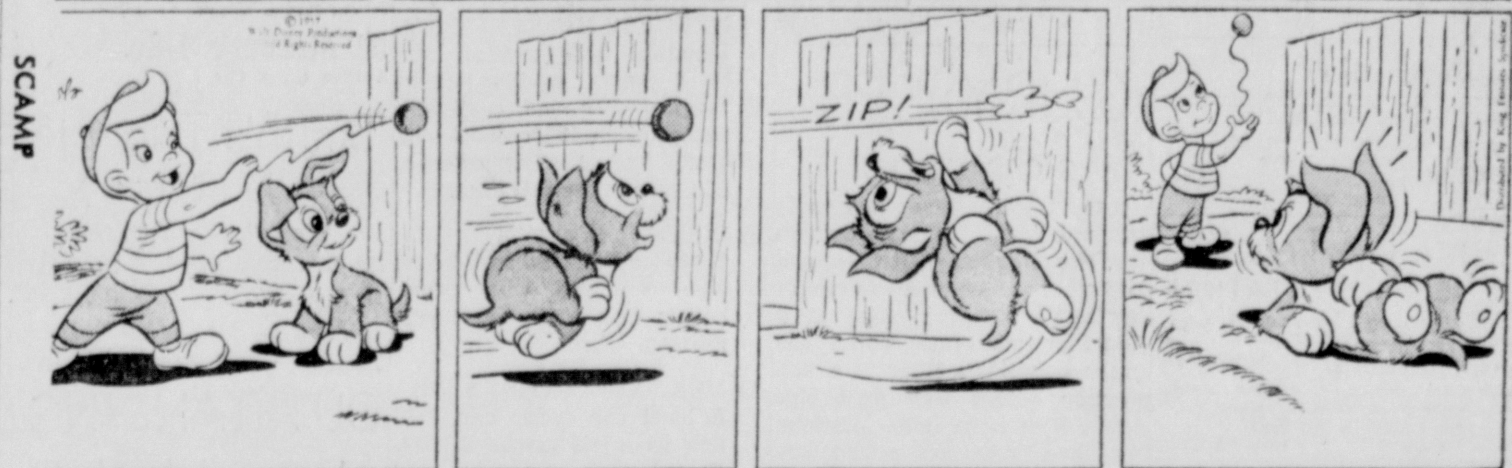

However, one declarer viewed the scene with greater suspicion. Mindful of the danger of subjecting the king of spades to attack, he took every precaution to prevent East from obtaining the lead. When the ten of diamonds was led declarer did not cover in dummy, but permitted the ten to hold. This maneuver afforded declarer protection against almost anything. If the opening lead was from the ten and a small one, the entire suit could be picked up on the next two rounds. If West's lead happened to have been from Q-10-9-x, South also could pick up the entire suit on subsequently rounds, for by playing the king next time he will find that East is void and that the finessing of the jack can be taken with assurance.

In the unlikely case that the lead was a singleton there would be no way to develop the suit without permitting East to obtain the lead; so in that case all would depend upon the favorable location of the ace of spades.

DO YOU BELIEVE IN WISHING?

Well it's nice to wish for something—and get it, but most of the things we wish must be worked for or paid for. For instance—the people of the Cumberland area have wished they could receive good TV from several stations direct with their own rooftop antennas. They could probably, if they would locate their antennas 2 or 3 thousand feet above their house. They have found, however, it doesn't take much wishing or cash either, to obtain all the wonders that TV can bring to them. — Just a call to PV-TV and as little as $6.48 per month! With BILLIONS of dollars being spent yearly for TV programming, it seems a shame that more families in the Cumberland area do not take advantage of what Cable TV can bring them. Cable TV is not a luxury as can be proven by the hundreds of families with low incomes!—These people know that they are ahead, not only money wise, but that all the best in TV is theirs for their family in entertainment, education and enlightenment.

Good TV is preparing people for a new world of enlightenment, security, and satisfaction, we are coming into. Let's see that the Cumberland area gets all these advantages—encourage more families to avail themselves with Cable TV!

Call for a FREE Demonstration if you do not have Cable TV and if you do have Cable TV ask a neighbor to leave you call for a Free Demonstration of Cable TV right in their own home!

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear husband, son and brother, WILLIAM LEE O'BORNE, who departed this life 3 years ago today, January 8, 1954. The stars are brightly shining upon a silent grave. In it lies a loved one. We've loved but could not save. In our hearts your memory lingers. Sweetly, tenderly, fond and true. There is not a day my darling. That we do not think of you. Loving wife, Mrs. ZANONIA D. O'BORNE, Mother, Sisters & Brothers.

In loving memory of our beloved father, Samuel Garey, who passed away one year ago today, Jan. 8, 1956. In our hearts your memory lingers. Always tender, fond and true. There's not a day, dear Dad, That we do not think of you. His Children.

State Sales Tax Expansion Urged

Would Boost Income By $8 Million

By HERB THOMPSON
ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 7 (AP)—Del. Wilkinson (D-Prince Georges) proposed tonight that Maryland apply its sales tax to purchases over 14 cents and tax restaurant meals as an alternate to Gov. McKeldin's proposed tobacco tax.

He said he also would suggest that the Legislature boost the state individual income tax from 2 per cent to 3 per cent in order to raise money for a pay increase for public school teachers.

Wilkinson, veteran Prince Georges County Democrat and speaker pro tem of the House of Delegates, came up with the alternate tax plan as the General Assembly returned for its first full week of the 90-day session.

It was the first of many which are expected to appear as legislators seek ways of avoiding the tax of 5 cents per pack on cigarettes proposed by Gov. McKeldin last week.

Wilkinson said the sales tax proposal would produce an estimated 8 million dollars for balancing the governor's budget, as compared to the $7,200,000 a tobacco tax would net.

The tax now is applied to purchases over 50 cents and restaurant meals are exempt entirely. Wilkinson said the state could raise an estimated 5 million dollars a year by lowering the base to 14 cents, and an estimated 3 million by applying it to restaurant meals.

He said he would favor this to any plan to increase the sales tax rate from 2 to 3 cents on the dollar as has been suggested by some. He also predicted Eastern Shore legislators, bitterly opposed to any hike in the sales tax rate, would go along with his proposal.

Del. Hanna (D-Wicomico), chairman of the State Roads Commission on Wednesday in Baltimore to discuss the Cumberland Thruway. Eves and City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum are definitely making the trip.

Among routine matters at yesterday's session were payment of $16,015.77 to Moyer Brothers of Altoona representing partial payment No. 22 for work on the sewage treatment plant.

A letter from William H. Shepherd protesting the new low-rent housing development in South End was filed.

Eves was authorized to execute a deed with Donald McGill conveying a tract of land needed for flood control and correcting errors in the previous deed.

While employed in the advertising department of the Red Cross Shoes factory, Mr. Peskin was assigned to Altoona, where he met the former Martha Luddecke who became his wife.

The couple came to Cumberland and set up a retail shoe store business. The concern has had several locations on Baltimore Street, the present location being established following a fire in January 1940, which destroyed the Peskin store.

Mr. Peskin was a charter member of East Gate Lodge 216, AF&AM, a 32nd degree Mason, member of Cumberland Consistory No. 2, Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite, and belonged to Ali Ghan Shrine Temple, AAOOMS.

Also a member of Fort Cumberland Post 13, American Legion and of the Cumberland Country Club, Mr. Peskin was a past president of the Mid-Atlantic Shoe Stores Association and belonged to B'er Chayim Temple, of which he was a former treasurer.

He was very active in sports in former years, playing football, semi-pro baseball and basketball.

Besides his son and widow Mr. Peskin is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Phyllis P. Sarubin of Baltimore.

Funeral services will be conducted at Stein's Funeral Home Wednesday at 2 p. m. with Rabbi Daniel Lowy, of B'er Chayim Temple, officiating. Interment will be in East View Cemetery. The family has requested that flowers be omitted.

Disputed Flood Work Will Be Inspected Today

$8,418 Check To Be Taken To Meeting

Disputed portions of the flood control project will be inspected today by an official of the Corps of Engineers, according to Mayor Roy W. Eves.

He said Street Commissioner William H. Buchholz and City Engineer C. R. Nuzum will accompany the Army Engineer official on the inspection tour which will begin at 9 a. m.

The tour will include items for which the city is seeking reimbursement on grounds it has been put to additional expense due to improperly completed work.

Commissioner Buchholz said the areas include Frederick Street, from City Hall to the railroad tracks; Valley Street, from the railroad to North Mechanic Street, and a number of items in Ridgeley.

The city claim for reimbursement for items for faulty construction and for additional work over which it had no control will be discussed Thursday at a meeting in Washington with the Corps of Engineers.

City officials will take with them to that conference arranged by U. S. Senator J. Glenn Beall an $8,418 check representing the city's share of the cost of Potomac River Section 2 and railroad interchange relocation.

The contract is to be advertised on January 15, if the city's share is paid by Thursday.

Mayor Eves also announced that some members of council will meet with the State Roads Commission on Wednesday in Baltimore to discuss the Cumberland Thruway. Eves and City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum are definitely making the trip.

Among routine matters at yesterday's session were payment of $16,015.77 to Moyer Brothers of Altoona representing partial payment No. 22 for work on the sewage treatment plant.

M. W. Peskin, Store Operator, Dies At 63

Succumbs After Brief Illness

Morton William Peskin Sr., 63, secretary-treasurer of Peskin's, Inc., died at 3:35 p. m. yesterday in Memorial Hospital, where he had been a patient for the past several weeks.

The well-known Cumberland businessman, who came here over 35 years ago from Altoona and established one of the community's better retail shoe stores and women's stores, had become ill shortly before the holidays.

Active in many civic enterprises and a past president of the Mercantile Bureau of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Peskin had operated his business establishment on Baltimore Street from the time he first opened it here.

He was secretary-treasurer of the concern which is managed by his son, Morton W. Peskin Jr. His widow, Mrs. Martha (Luddecke) Peskin, is president of the corporation.

Born In Cleveland

Mr. Peskin was a native of Cleveland, Ohio, born July 21, 1893, a son of the late Phillip and Carrie (Levy) Peskin. He was a graduate of Janesville High School, Janesville, Wis., and was graduated from the University of Chicago in Chicago, Ill., with a BS degree in business administration.

The enterprising community leader served several years as an officer in the Army in World War I. He was a first lieutenant in the Quartermaster Corps and became associated with the U. S. Shoe Company after his discharge.

While employed in the advertising department of the Red Cross Shoes factory, Mr. Peskin was assigned to Altoona, where he met the former Martha Luddecke who became his wife.

The couple came to Cumberland and set up a retail shoe store business. The concern has had several locations on Baltimore Street, the present location being established following a fire in January 1940, which destroyed the Peskin store.

Mr. Peskin was a charter member of East Gate Lodge 216, AF&AM, a 32nd degree Mason, member of Cumberland Consistory No. 2, Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite, and belonged to Ali Ghan Shrine Temple, AAOOMS.

County Library Plans Will Be Discussed Here

$10,834 Offered To Allegany

A meeting to discuss the possibility of the creation of an Allegany County public library will be conducted today at 3 p. m. at the Board of Education building.

Miss Helen M. Clark, director of the Division of Library Extension of the State Department of Education, will conduct the meeting.

Invited to attend, according to Miss Mary G. Walsh, librarian of the Cumberland Free Public Library, are the three members of the Board of County Commissioners, the five members of the County Board of Education, Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of county schools; members of the board of the Cumberland Free Public Library, Mrs. Milton S. Granet, representing the LaVale Library; Mrs. Robert Bittner, representing the Frostburg Library; Mrs. Paul McCoy, representing the Westernport Library, and Rev. Elva S. Brotemarkle, representing the Bowman's Addition Library.

Public Law 597, passed last year by Congress, authorizes a total appropriation of $7,500,000 through 1962 for library extension work. Maryland's share will be about $110,000.

For the fiscal year which ends June 30, 1957, $2,050,000 was authorized for the states at the rate of $40,000 for each state. A proposal for use of the $40,000 in Maryland was approved by the State Board of Education November 28, 1956.

For the first six months of 1957, three areas in Maryland have been singled out to share the $40,000. Group 1 includes Somerset, Wicomico and Worcester counties, all on the Eastern Shore. Group 2 includes three Southern Maryland counties, Calvert, Charles and St. Mary's. Group 3 includes Allegany and Garrett counties.

Allegany County, with a rural population of 51,887, would be entitled to $10,834 of Maryland's $40,000 under a suggested plan for distribution of federal funds for the year which ends June 30.

To obtain this amount, Allegany County would have to put up $7,275 and the State of Maryland would advance $4,151. For Garrett County, which has a county-wide library, $4,000 in Federal funds would be available. The county would have to appropriate $3,092 and the state $1,913 in Garrett County.
